

I learned about a time
When people did not exist
A time when Flowers smelled and animals shouted
A time when people didn't commit any crime

I know a time
When birth took place in nature
A time when forests breathed and rivers flowed
A time when Adam and Eve were the prime

I remember a time
When first fire helped warm up
A time when nobility governed and the poor served
A time when the aboriginals had a stime

I live in a time
When mercy has vanished
A time when fire burns and blows hurt
A time when humans die in wartime

I dream of a time
When any man enchain never die by the pain of slam
A time when sometimes people will shed tears not for fears or sadness but for happiness
A time when you and I will fly across the sky looking not for a king but for a kingdom where unity and equality between she he and it govern
Am I mad?? No, I'm just looking forward to a time of peace
